

Thoughtful House Center for Children

June 15th, 2010

Thoughtful House is proud to announce a wonderful opportunity for 50 families affected by autism spectrum disorder.

The Bright Eyes Project will provide support and financial assistance to 50 children for the provision of the initiation of appropriate intervention. Over the course of four months, those selected will receive eight appointments with clinicians from the Medical Center and Nutrition

Clinic at Thoughtful House. Each family will also receive an in-depth orientation and review with a behavior consultant.

Additionally, each family will have comprehensive support from their Family Care Coordinator and will receive discounts on appropriate laboratory testing and nutritional supplements as prescribed during the program. The estimated value of these services and discounts is approximately $5,000 per child. Each family will be responsible for a small co-pay for each appointment.

Families must meet established criteria to apply. These criteria include:

- Child must be between the ages of 18 months and 12 years old to apply

- Child must have a confirmed ASD diagnosis

- Family must meet income requirements and be willing to commit to program requirements

The Thoughtful House team is excited about the opportunity to offer meaningful and effective interventions for 50 families in need. For more details or to request an application, please email intake@thoughtfulhouse.org.
